Module 1 Lesson 3

Exercise 1 (Pair Work)
The situation is that you are driving with your counterpart through an area in Korat and you are surprised to see a huge complex. You are interested in it and ask your partner what types of buildings these are by following the example below. Then substitute the underlined with the words given below and reverse roles afterwards, so that both students get the opportunity to ask and respond to the query.

Example:

A: [illegible]
B: [illegible]

1. [illegible]
2. [illegible]
3. [illegible]
4. [illegible]
5. [illegible]
6. [illegible]

Exercise 2 (Pair Work)
Students will remain in the pair groupings from the last activity. The situation is that you are both still in Korat. You would like to know more about buildings you have seen. Ask your partner what kind of building it is and how many floors the building has. Referring to the information in the table below, your partner will give the appropriate answer. Reverse roles so that both members can ask and respond to the queries.

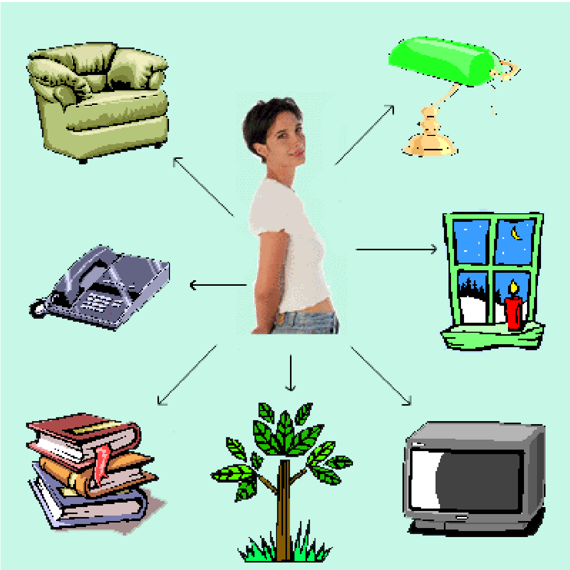

Example:

A: [illegible]
B: [illegible]
A: [illegible]

Module 1 Lesson 3

Exercise 4
Students will work together as a team to decide what items of furniture are in the pictures. Afterwards, they will select one image and create a story of what they see and relay it to the class. The class members must guess which picture is being described. The activity will continue until all pairs have had the chance to provide a description

Exercise 5 (Pair Work)
The scenario is that it is important to be able to look at a layout of a room or building and describe it to fellow team members. Each pair will enter the classroom individually. They will have several minutes to scan the classroom and determine which objects are there and where they are located. Afterwards, they will draw a sketch of the room and depict the location and nature of the objects. When each pair has had their chance, pairs will report to the class on what they determined was the correct layout. The instructor will officiate.

Exercise 6 (Pair Work)
The task is to reinforce the ability to ask and describe objects and locations. Using the information from the previous activity, each pair will practice asking and answering queries about the locations of objects.

Example:

Situation: A pencil is on the desk.

A: □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□
B: □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□

Introduction
Module 1 Lesson 3

Exercise 12 (Pair Work)
Students will practice counting from 0 to 20. Students will take turns writing numbers in Thai on a piece of paper and give it to his/her partner to tell the class what the number is.

Exercise 13
Students will practice counting from 0 to 20 by counting forward 0 to 20 several times, doing a round-robin (one student starts with 0, his neighbor says 1, his neighbor continues, etc.) Since classes are small, every student gets to say several different numbers. If time permits, count backward, even or odd numbers.

Exercise 14
The instructor will read some numbers in context. Students are to write down the number(s) mentioned as soon as they hear it.

Exercise 15 (Pair Work)
Working together as a team, partners will listen as the instructor reads a list of names and determine the ages of the following people.

1. Thai numbers

Thai numbers of more than one digit are systematically formed. For example, 10 and 2 are combined to form 12, 3 and 10 are combined to form 30. The only exceptions are numbers between 11 and 91 that end in one (21, 31, etc.), and the number 20. These numbers are formed somewhat differently. In this case, □□□□ is used in place of □□□□□, which is the regular word for one. For number twenty, □□□ is used in place of □□□, which is used in all other cases.

Exercise 1
Say the following numbers in Thai and write them down in Thai numbers

1. 11 ________________
2. 16 ________________
3. 10 ________________
4. 8 ________________
5. 20 ________________

2. Classifiers

A classifier is a must in Thai whenever a noun and a number are used together. All Thai nouns do have their own classifiers, and we will put them in this order: noun + number + classifier.

Example:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| □□□□□□□□□□□ | = | Three houses |
| □□□□□□□□□□□ | = | Four children |
| □□□□□□□□□ | = | Six tables |

Exercise 2

Rewrite the following phrases in a correct order.

1. [illegible] ____________________
2. [illegible] ____________________
3. [illegible] ____________________
4. [illegible] ____________________
5. [illegible] ____________________

List of classifiers commonly used

| Classifier | For |
|---|---|
| [illegible] | human beings |
| [illegible] | houses |
| [illegible] | rooms |
| [illegible] | small objects and th ings in general |
| [illegible] | books, magazines |
| [illegible] | box |
| [illegible] | glass |
| [illegible] | cup |
| [illegible] | bottle |
| [illegible] | can |
| [illegible] | flat objects: sheets of paper, board, etc. |
| [illegible] | round and hollow objects: hats, cups, eggs, fruits, tickets, leaflets, etc. |
| [illegible] | pairs of people, animals, things, articles. |
| [illegible] | automobile |
| [illegible] | pens, pencils |
| etc. | |

3. □□□ . . .

It means "how many . . ." and is considered a number-like word in Thai. Hence, it requires a classifier to go with it. The formula for the use of □□□ is: noun + □□□ + classifier. However, if the noun and the classifier are identical, the noun is usually omitted.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Example: | □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ | = | How many students? |
| | (□□□□)□□□□□□□□□□□□□ | = | How many rooms? |
| | (□□□□)□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ | = | How many floors? |

Exercise 3

1. How many bananas? ______________________
2. How many people? ______________________
3. How many chairs? ______________________
4. How many books? ______________________
5. How many teachers? ______________________

3. . . . □□□

This word is an adjective meaning "this." It cannot be used as a noun as in English. When using this word, a noun and its classifier are always required. If the noun and its classifier are identical or the classifier is understood, the noun may be dropped.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Example: | □□□□□□□□□ | = | this child |
| | (□□□□)□□□□□□□ | = | this room |
| | □□□□□□□□□□□ | = | this house |

Translate the following phrases into Thai.

1. This school __________________
2. This teacher ____________________
3. This student ____________________
4. This building __________________
5. This banana __________________

5. Use of " [illegible] "

This is a relative pronoun meaning either "that, which, who, whom," or "where."

Example: [illegible] = the book that you have.
[illegible] = the car which you drive.
[illegible] = the student who is in the room.
[illegible] = the teacher whom you see.

Exercise 5
Translate the following phrases into Thai.

1. The bananas that I see ____________________
2. The school where I study ____________________
3. The teacher who drives ____________________

6. [illegible]

As a noun this word means "some."
Example:
[illegible] = I have some.

Used to modify the object in an interrogative sentence, this word implies plurality.

Example:
[illegible] = What are the names of your children?
[illegible] = What (some things) do you have?

Whenever there is an important function or ceremony such as a wedding, the Thais will try to have it on the day or month which has number nine in it such as the 9th day or the 9th month. If it is possible, they might consider the 9th hour and 9th minute. It can be 9, 19, 29 and etc.
